FACULTY PHILOSOPHY FOR MENTORING AND INDUSTRY CONNECT

Having the responsibility to shape the future of my students drives me to ignite fervent passion in them, encouraging uncharted intellectual exploration, and nurturing deep enthusiasm for advanced thinking. For future leaders to achieve holistic approaches, they need a well-honed mindset, deduce solutions, communicate precise information, and articulate academic goals. I envision students collaborating in theory, research, and practice in the classroom, incorporating industry insights to breathe life into abstract theories and enhance paradigms. Ultimately, the objective is to inspire students to positively impact society, reach their career goals, and develop a passion for lifelong learning.

INNOVATIVE STRATEGIES

I believe in making learning enjoyable and engaging, inspiring students to return with enthusiasm. Learning involves challenging existing beliefs and supporting them with meaningful reasoning. As a knowledge guardian, I use experiential activities and games to enliven the theoretical aspects of our courses, particularly Human Behavior in Organizations. HR prioritizes practical application through case analysis, role-play, and scenario discussions, creating a dynamic learning environment. The aim is to bring concepts to life, allowing students to explore and develop their knowledge actively and impactfully.

IMPACT CREATED FOR STUDENT

I've witnessed remarkable transformations in students from their first day on campus to securing placements. Janhavi, a 2020-2022 graduate, is a standout example. I vividly recall my initial interview with her for the Cynergy Club co-head position. Collaborating on HR specialization, we enhanced her expertise, and her dedication led to success with Archer & Bull recruitment. Her unwavering commitment and perseverance led her to attain her desired goal.

CIP IMPACT CASE STUDY

PROJECT

We offer our students invaluable opportunities to apply their knowledge in real-world corporate settings. In this case study, our students undertook a transformative internship at Patanjali Foods, where they played integral roles in Business Development, Sales and marketing, and Finance domains.

STUDENTS ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

During their internship, our students took on various responsibilities that allowed them to gain practical insights into the corporate world. Their roles span diverse projects covering market analysis, financial evaluation, sustainable business practices, and retail management. Students were exposed to contemporary practices followed in the business world, such as BRSR Reporting, handling investor meetings, etc. These experiences enabled them to apply theoretical concepts to real-world scenarios and make meaningful contributions to their teams

IMPACT

In a notable fusion of practical experience and forward-thinking, FIIB's Corporate Internship Program (CIP) set a new benchmark this year. Beyond the conventional journey from internships to Pre-Placement Offers (PPOs), the program witnessed an extraordinary evolution. While securing coveted PPOs, our students actively embraced the ever-relevant world of Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) disclosures. This year's interns delved into crucial realms, taking on sustainability reporting and disclosures and seamlessly integrating ESG principles into the fabric of their organizations. Their early exposure to contemporary business practices set them apart and solidified their positions as trailblazers in professional development.

SIP IMPACT CASE STUDY

PROJECT

FIIB's commitment to nurturing socially responsible leaders is exemplified through our students' participation in transformative social internship program (SIP). We provide holistic education, with a particular emphasis on social values learning. In one such program, our students had the privilege of collaborating with the Inclusive Divyangjan Entrepreneur Association (IDEA), a social sector organization, established for creating livelihood opportunities for persons with disabilities and enterprises supporting them. IDEA focuses on fostering entrepreneurship and employment for persons with disabilities (PwDs).

STUDENT INITIATIVES

During this internship, the students worked closely with divyangjan entrepreneurs, gaining a profound understanding of their challenges and resilience. The students contributed to IDEA's approach of combining financial support and mindset training to empower these entrepreneurs. During the SIP, they were actively engaged, and had the opportunity of participating in the schemes launched to promote entrepreneurship by national institutes like Pt. Deen Dayal Upadhyaya National Institute for Persons with Physical disabilities (P.D.U.N.I.P.D.). The internship reshaped the students' perception of disability, emphasizing the significance of the "3H" philosophy: Head, Heart, and Hands. The experience highlighted the urgent need for inclusiveness as India aspires to become Atmanirbhar (self-reliant).

IMPACT

The impact of SIP extended to students, faculty, and the institution. Our students gained insights that went beyond textbooks and classrooms through direct contact with social service organizations (SSOs), establishing a true awareness of the difficulties that exist in our society. It assisted them in understanding the need to bring change and the imperative of becoming change agents themselves. The program taught students how to contribute beyond self-interest, comprehend problems, assess preparedness, develop competencies, and collaborate across differences. FIIB's thought leadership drives its commitment to positive societal impact. By fostering meaningful relationships, the institution aids SSOs in tackling complex issues more effectively, showcasing its dedication to social change and benefiting both students and society.
